Expiring Subscriptions.

A large number of subscriptions to THE HERALD will expire within the next thirty days. Subscribers whose time is out will be reminded of the fact by a cross near their names on the margin of the paper. We hope to retain every name on our list, but unless notified of a renewal, the paper will be discontinued immediately after the cross appears. This is done because many persons complain when the paper is continued, beyond the time paid for and for the more important reason that the cost of material and labor will not permit us to send out papers without some assurance of compensation.

Local Notes.

Thanksgiving.

County commissioners' court next Monday.

Bon Laing, of Logansport, spent Sunday in town.

County Treasurer Faris went to Lafayette yesterday.

Bowman Rothrock, of Minnesota, is visiting his friends here.

Paid your building association dues for the last time this week.

Attend the union services at the Presbyterian church to-day.

Howard will pay the highest market price for Game and Poultry.

Union township teachers' institute meets on the second Saturday of each month.

The lovers of tarpsichore inaugurated the season at Town Hall Saturday evening.

Dr. Barnum, of Ft. Wayne, is visiting his father-in-law, Mr. Enos Gay, north of town.

329 is marching on. Now we have it in Thanksgiving—this being the 329th day in the year.

The schools at this place were suspended last Monday for one week on account of the diphtheria.

The teachers of Big Creek and Prairie townships held a joint institute at Brookston last Saturday.

James Hogeland and mother, Mrs. W. S. Hogeland, and Ben Clark, went east yesterday on a visit to Virginia friends.

Any one who wants a good farm, or is looking for a home in Michigan, should write to W. O. Hubbard, Grand Rapids, Mich.

The epizootic is reported at Goodland. Horse owners should keep their horses blanketed and well protected from the cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Newbold, of Monon, and Mr. Samuel Glasgow, of Jackson township, visited the HERALD office yesterday.

From the Brookston Reporter we learn that John Davis died on the 18th inst., of brain fever, at the advanced age of 80 years.

Mrs. E. B. Sellers, Miss Ida Kingsbury, Miss Josie Cowger, Sam P. Cowger, Dr. Cowger and Robert Bennett visited Logansport last Friday.

Mr. Elijah Tilton, of Kansas, paid his brother, D. M. Tilton, of this place, a visit last week. He left Saturday on his way to visit relatives in Ohio.

The construction of the new railroad running south from Goodland to the coal fields of Fountain county, has suspended on account of the severe weather.

The Remington Reporter says that a church member has been taking coal from the wrong box. A statement from the o. m. might show the Reporter man to be guilty of this charge; who knows?

Once more we are called on to chronicle the loss of an important business enterprise. The shooting gallery has taken its departure. Now if a saloon should burst up, Monticello's fate would be sealed.

The poor in our midst should be supplied with the comforts of life. "Charity covers a multitude of sins" and now is a good time to exercise it. Look to the wants of the needy and see that they are supplied.

Every hamlet, village, township or road district that can not present one or more candidates for legislative preference is poor indeed. The average number of applicants for each appointment is estimated at about 500.

Market quotations here to-day are as follows: Wheat .45; corn 40; oats 27; rye .75; flaxseed 25; pease 60; butter 18; eggs 12; wool 30; cloverseed $.75; apples 40; timber 80; anthracite coal 66.75; Pittsburg coal 8.25.

Hon. Jno. P. Carr sold a lot of cattle a few days ago for which he received $78.79. The Reporter says they "averaged 17,000 pounds," but we don't believe it, notwithstanding the preposterous crudities of the average country bairinger.

The memory of the oldest inhabitant runs back not to such continued cold weather as this season of the year. Should it continue until spring at the present rate, the question of fuel supplies will become one of absorbing interest and difficult to

The L. D. & C. Ry. reached Lowell last Saturday. The construction of twenty miles more in this direction will complete the road from Delphi to Chicago, which it is said will be accomplished by Jan. 1, 1881. In the mean time regular trains will be run between Lowell and Chicago.

INTERESTING NOTES OF LOCAL EVENTS. SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS PUT IN AN APPEARANCE—A BIG BUSINESS ROOM SATURDAY—ACTIVITY AMONG CARPENTERS—HOW THE HERALD TAKES WITH ITS NUMEROUS JACKSON TOWNSHIP READERS.

Rabbits are ripe and plenty. Did you ever see them colder in November?

The M. E. church is supplied with a handsome organ.

Mr. Ed. Delzell has cozy quarters over Friday's store.

Nearly 130 scholars are enrolled in our Idaville schools.

Mr. Perry Godlove purchased a fine new piano last week.

The next time Bruce Tedford gives me away up town there'll be war in Jackson.

Mr. Coughill is building a house. Messrs. Marvin and Heiny are doing the work.

We are marshaling our forces for a vigorous attack on turkey next Thursday.

Mrs. Al. Tam has been seriously ill for some time past, but is now improving.

Miss Jane Mitchell, daughter of Mr. Geo. Mitchell, is lying very low at this writing.

Prof. Will H. Heiny, chaplain of the Adams township corps of pedagogues, spent Sabbath in Idaville.

Did you ever go up to that a giving? A swarthy tramp endeavored to arrest our portly squire last Saturday night, and compel him to issue ration and furnish comfortable quarters with all modern improvements and appliances, but Van fell back on his reserve (dignity) and gave the aristocratic vagabond the grand bounce.

Delaney Marvin and Dan Heiny, two wicked democrats bluffed Jack Township into the belief that New York had gone democratic, and that stalwart republicans grieved with such a grievous grief that he had to shut out the light of day and retire to his couch almost broken hearted. Fact, sure as shooting; but Jack has now recovered.

The concert under the auspices of Prof. Rice, at the M. E. church, last Saturday night was a success, and fully enjoyed by the large audience that filled the church. Taking into consideration the brief time in which the performers had to prepare themselves for the entertainment their rendition of the various parts assigned to them was most excellent.

Mr. Will Guthrie returned from Indianapolis last Saturday where he has been attending the Grand Lodge of I.O.O.F.

Mr. Bob Hannah's horse took a little jaunt on his own hook one day last week. No damage to anything but Bob's temper.

Mr. Stephenson returned to his home in Sidney, O., last Saturday. He has been here on a brief visit with Mr. Wm. Wilson.

Jno. L. Shafer, with his party of hewers of wood, alias carpenters, finished the new Dunker church north of town last week.

The teachers' institute at Hopewell last Saturday was both interesting and instructive. Adams township has an interesting corps of teachers.

Dr. R. S. Black is dispensing drugs for McAllister during the latter's absence at Indianapolis, when not employed in his professional duties.

Mr. W. F. Sharp, a native of Jackson, wields the ruler at the Cedar school house south of Idaville. Findlay is an earnest worker in the cause.

Four crews of carpenters from Idaville have been constantly at work since early last spring in putting up new houses and still the work goes on.

Mr. Frank Hutchison is teaching his first school this winter, and shows himself to be a "natural born pedagogue." He holds forth at Sharp's school house.

Several Idavillians braved the Arctic winter last Sunday, by attending the dedicatory service of the new Dunker church, north of Idaville about 5 miles.

The HERALD gave general satisfaction last week, judging from the many who commended it for a lively and able edited paper. "Long may it wave."

The editor of the Democrat has discovered where the belles wear their heels. Look out for an exposure of Masonry or Odd Fellowship next.

Squire VanDeman has treated himself to an embryo quick stepper, and will yet see the day that he can go around Bill Vanderbilt, Esq. Ahem! Whoa! Dobbin, steady there!

Ice will bear and the small boy rejoices with exceeding great joy in having the opportunity of setting down upon it with a force sufficient to cause a display of fire works in the eyes of the victim.

Dr. Palmer has had the reception room of his excellent hostelry papered, and supplied with a new coal heater making it a comfortable place for his numerous patrons to spend their leisure time.

Mr. Albert Barnes bought an orange, Dr. Palmer and Johnson Barnes have purchased melodeons. Now say our people are not musical, will you? Do, me, so, do. "Jiss in, Billy, with the girl I left behind me."

Mr. James Armstrong has nearly completed a few house on the Falley farm north of Idaville. When it comes to putting up a substantial house in a hurry, Jim is a "whole team with a yellow bulldog under the wagon." Solah!

A mail route from Woldott to Round Grove has been established.

In my wrestle with the "shakes" I landed on "top," and am able to extend my sympathies to the philosopher of the Democrat in this his hour of affliction. "Laughing is ketching," Jap, but I am glad you are better all the same.

Suspicious characters are seen prowling around town nearly every week; evidently hard cases driven out of Logansport by the strict surveillance of the police. Keep your shotgun loaded, and powder dry. You may need them.

This is to certify that Bob Jones can put up a stove without using any more forcible language than "convinced," "dratted," "dogoned," "blasted," "bow-wow," "anyhow," and further than this deponent saith not.

The business boom of last Saturday rather took our merchants by surprise. At Friday's they had to swear in an additional force of clerks, and then had their hands full. The same may be said of nearly all the stores in town. Cause, good roads and sleighing.

W. A. Tramp, the druggist and W. C. Powers, two of the bachelor quartette, have beautifully fitted up a room in the rear of the drugstore for their own use, where they have ample freedom to congregate with each other in their forlorn condition. A beautiful carpet of foreign manufacture covers the floor, and the walls are adorned with the most fancy patterns of wall paper. Unfortunately the paper was not well put on, and is now sealing and drying off.

It is hoped that the flow of cars will not be so great as to keep the road damp and thus be the cause of this misfortune. By the way, it is thought that the ties of affection, which have so long bound the bachelors together, will soon be severed. R. C. Pugh contemplates casting lots in other places.

A swarthy tramp endeavored to arrest our portly squire last Saturday night, and compel him to issue ration and furnish comfortable quarters with all modern improvements and appliances, but Van fell back on his reserve (dignity) and gave the aristocratic vagabond the grand bounce.

Delaney Marvin and Dan Heiny, two wicked democrats bluffed Jack Township into the belief that New York had gone democratic, and that stalwart republicans grieved with such a grievous grief that he had to shut out the light of day and retire to his couch almost broken hearted. Fact, sure as shooting; but Jack has now recovered.

The literary society at this place is now in full blast; our town now has ample opportunities for a successful culture.

Dr. VanDewarker was in Indianapolis last week, attending the Odd Fellow's Lodge at that place. Long may the doctor prosper.

Steele and VanGundy, of Rockfield, shipped a car load of hogs for sale by Jon. McConnell.

It is simply marvelous how quickly consumption, biliousness, and sick head-ache are cured by "Salter's Liver Pills."

What is the use in going to the sea side for health when "Dr. Lindsey's Blood Searcher" is what you need.

Assisting Provisior in Old Wills.

A FOREIGN REVIEWER of a new book entitled "Curiosities of the Search Room" writes as follows:

"The chapter on Eccentric Wills, on vindictive Wills and on Deathbed Confessions, is a study in itself. And why? Simply because of its truly wonderful merits. No Cougar or Gold, no matter of how long standing or how stubborn, can resist its healing qualities."

Asthma, Bronchitis, Heart Disease, Hay Fever, Rheumatism, and all diseases of breathing or any disorder of the Throat and Lungs rapidly yield to its marvelous powers. It will positively cure and that where everything else has failed. Salter's himself as a doctor has already done great things for Dr. Douglass and McConnell. A single dose will give you full particulars and exclusive territory to canvas in."

IT'S JUST A BOOMING.

Such is the expression from all Drug-gists and dealers everywhere who are sold to have such an expansive and rapid growth. And why? Simply because of its truly wonderful merits. No Cougar or Gold, no matter of how long standing or how stubborn, can resist its healing qualities."

Selling at Cost.

Miss Tice is selling out at cost for the purpose of closing out her fall and winter stock of Millinery. Up stairs over Dr. Spencer's drug store. Patrons respectively solicited.

Water Tears Seats.

The season has arrived when residents of the Northern States have begun to agitate the subject of a trip to warmer and more congenial climates in which to spend at least a portion of the coming winter, and either Florida or Southern Texas will be generally decided upon in the objective place. In this connection the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railway Co. (Pan-Handle Route) announced that they have placed on the market for a concert price of $1.00 each a round-trip excursion ticket to Jacksonville, Florida; Austin, Houston, Galveston and San Antonio, Tex. For sale by Jon. McConnell.

These tickets are now on sale at all principle stations on the lines of this company, and can be purchased from the general office through agents at smaller stations.

Tickets are good for return passage until June 1st, 1881, and are first class in every particular. The Pan-Handle Route is the direct through line to Florida and Texas. For tickets, time-tables and full information, call on address any agent of the company, or W. L. O'Brien, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, No. 219 North High street, Columbus, O.

GROTESQUE INSTRUCTIONS WITH REGARD TO THE TESTATOR'S BODY ARE FREQUENT IN WILLS.

One man bequeathed his body to the Imperial Gas Company to be consumed in one of their retorts; and a New Yorker, leaving seventy-two pairs of trousers, to be sold to the highest bidder without examination, no purchaser being allowed to buy more than one pair. In each pair was found a bundle of bank notes representing a thousand dollars. A Frenchman instructed his wife to be buried in a coffin, to be sold by boys or men, with a iron of eighty pounds to be given to the winner. Another will, who died last week, desired his wife to be buried in his shirt, and desired his son to bring him down and dress him in what every gown should be worn in order that business might be properly conducted.

The teachers that met in this town for institute on Saturday were as follows: Miss Fagg and Mr. Mitchell, of the town school; Mr. Banta, Mr. Jones, Mr. Pogue, Mr. Duncan, Miss Barkley, Miss Holmes and others, who were strangers to the town for the first time.

The teachers of Princeton township held an Institute on the 13th instant under the supervision of Luke Rogers. Mr. Rogers makes an excellent trustee.

Last week the Murphy society held a large and enthusiastic meeting for the purpose of remonstrating

The Great South American State.

This June we were courteously invited by Baron Spindler to pay a visit to London. There we continued to read one of the best written and most interesting sketches of Brazil that have ever appeared in the columns of a newspaper. The statements of the growth and material resources of that vast country, which is as large as our own, as well as its commercial and industrial characteristics and its outlook for the future, are as astonishing as to be won through reproduction in a condensed form.

In every feature Brazil may be called "The Great South American State." It covers an area nearly three times that of South America, has a sea-coast-line of 4,000 miles, and its greatest width is 2,600 miles. It is divided into twenty provinces, one of which is ten times larger than England. Its mighty river, the Amazon, by the side of which the Mississippi seems small, and its tributaries are navigable for 24,500 miles, and the Upper Parana and Paraguay are also navigable for the banks of the Mississippi. Its population is 12,000,000; its revenue $60,000,000; and its credit stands as high in Europe as that of the most prosperous European States. Its area is 3,287,964 square miles, or about one-fifteenth part of the land surface of the globe, geographically divided into three great sections—a mountain cluster in the center, the Valley of the Amazon in the north, and the valleys of the Paraguay, Parana, and Uruguay in the south, with a diversity of both tropical and subtropical, and a soil that yields all the precious minerals, metals and stones, the finest woods, and not only coffee, sugar, tobacco and cotton, and all the tropical fruits, but all the fruits, herbs and roots of the Temperate Zone.

During the past ten years Brazil has immensely increased its facilities of transportation. She has now twenty-eight steam navigation companies, native and foreign, plying in her waters. In 1867 she had six lines of railway running over 256 miles; now she has thirty-one lines, making over 1,000 miles, and 146 miles in process of construction, making altogether 2,981 miles. The lines stretching round Rio Janeiro have yielded dividends of 12 to 20 per cent. Though in some cases it has required an outlay of from $100,000 to $150,000 per mile to construct them—the handsomest profits being largely due to the conveyance of gold.

In some respects, however, the progress has not been satisfactory. The finances have not been wisely administered. Up to the year 1873 the revenue had been doubled every ten years, and in that year was $60,000,000. Since that time, however, it has been insufficient for the expenditure, and now the public accounts have closed with an annual deficit of $10,000,000.

Brazil also shows little elasticity, for the export of gold will not increase which may be easily administered. Up to the year 1873 the revenue had been doubled every ten years, and in that year was $60,000,000. Since that time, however, it has been insufficient for the expenditure, and now the public accounts have closed with an annual deficit of $10,000,000.

Trade also shows little elasticity, for the export of gold will not increase which may be easily administered. Since that time, however, it has been insufficient for the expenditure, and now the public accounts have closed with an annual deficit of $10,000,000.

Fancy glass inkstands and paperweights in new and beautiful designs. Games, picture puzzles, alphabetical blocks, dominoes, checkers, chess, aurora, Bible characters and events and games, Shakespearean games. Come and examine them. Then you must not forget that we have a larger stock of every thing else than ever before. Years old, hobby horses, cups and saucers, Japanese goods, pocket books, cigar cases, cigar holders, card cases and many other things we will take pleasure in showing if you will only take the trouble to call and see them at John McConnell's drug store.

A merry Christmas and a happy New Year to all. I have just opened a large and beautiful selection of gift books for every one. Poets in Morocco and gilt binding, poets in library binding, poets in plain cloth binding, Dickens, Waverley and other standard works in sets; miscellaneous books, by well known authors. Interesting and instructive books for young folks. Books for children, hand-bound and elegantly illustrated. Toy books, with beautiful colored pictures, for the little ones. A large assortment of family Bibles, teachers' Bibles, pocket Bibles, photograph albums, small and rabbit size, pocket photograph albums, autograph albums, writing desks of various patterns, wood work boxes, morocco work boxes, beautiful willow work baskets, laid with silk, don't fail to see them at John McConnell's drug store.

It is evident that Brazil has a great future in store for herself when her resources are fully developed. Her vast area some day can sustain as large a population as the United States, and her remarkable geographical position, which gives her the advantages of both tropical and temperate climate, and well distributed resources of soil, and with her bad lands that we have, will some day make her a powerful competitor with us. She has been disturbed with wars in the past, and there is no reason why she should be in the future. With such enterprise and energy as are employed in this country, Brazil would be one of the most prosperous regions in the world.—Chicago Tribune.

"What do you do for sleeplessness?" a nervous man asked his physician. "Set the alarm for four o'clock," replied the medicine man. And the stupid patient couldn't imagine what that had to do with it.—Howlett.

One of the best remedies for snubbing, especially when there is a tendency to pull up of the skin or flesh, is to rub the affected parts frequently, and the heat and soreness will soon be relieved.

The various farms in which Oliver Dallmeyer is interested have this season a total acreage in wheat of 25,000. He estimates the average yield at about two bushels per acre or a grand total of some 50,000 bushels. This will grow mostly No. 1.

It is evident that Brazil has a great future in store for herself when her resources are fully developed. Her vast area some day can sustain as large a population as the United States, and her remarkable geographical position, which gives her the advantages of both tropical and temperate climate, and well distributed resources of soil, and with her bad lands that we have, will some day make her a powerful competitor with us. She has been disturbed with wars in the past, and there is no reason why she should be in the future. With such enterprise and energy as are employed in this country, Brazil would be one of the most prosperous regions in the world.—Chicago Tribune.

"What do you do for sleeplessness?" a nervous man asked his physician. "Set the alarm for four o'clock," replied the medicine man. And the stupid patient couldn't imagine what that had to do with it.—Howlett.

plants for window decoration in winter. Young plants from "tip" cuttings in summer are only as good for this purpose as are young plants which have sprung up in the ground. Varieties of this plant have very delicate colorings and markings, and almost every year varieties of special interest are added to our already large list. The principal difficulty in keeping colts in ordinary dwelling-houses is that the plants become chilled at night, which will cause the leaves to drop, and frequently kill the plants. Most varieties require a good exposure to the sun in order to develop their finest shades and markings.

There are several kinds of plants, not generally cultivated, as house-plants, which are distinctive for winter blooming. These are tuberous, sweet-scented, stocks, etc., among those which can be grown indoors. Tuberous which have been planted in the ground during the summer, but which are too late to bloom and escape the frost, may be carefully lifted and potted in good rich soil, and they will then bloom in the house, however, culture the dwarf variety. "Pearl" is in every way similar to the old "Sweet" Achimenes. Varieties are a pretty plant, of very compact growth, a quality which makes it superior to most other varieties of achimenes, which are of much coarser growth. The markings of Achimenes Versicolor are very handsome. Cuttings of verbenas may be started at this time, and will make good plants for winter blooming. Wood taken from geranium plants in pruning is excellent to start young plants which may be done by placing each cutting in a small pot with fine loose soil. The soil should be evenly moist, and the pots plunged in sand or other material in a cool, shady situation. Scented geraniums are indispensable in every collection of parlor plants. As their chief value consists in the fragrance of the leaves, small plants are nearly as good as larger ones, though they take up much less space on the stand. This class of geraniums now numbers a great many varieties, of which rose, apple, lemon, variegated rose and skeleton-leaved are desirable ones. The spice-scented is particularly rich.—*Cor. The European Grey.

A bright and wretched race is roving European highways, enlivening the roads with variegated costumes and stirring great cities with song. It lives on love and freedom. Its representatives are called Trigaines, Zingari, Gipsies, Cygans, Zigeuners, Gitans, Gitanes, Ringers, Egyptian and Bohemian. These names illustrate its development and close relationship with southern races. Where the sun is warm, where flowers bloom, where groves are luxuriant, where savory fruits drop from the trees, there the gipsy thrives and flourishes.
